AHOY, MATEY!

Set sail for all the pirate adventures and treasure you can handle! Just keep a look out for Islanders and Imperial Guards!

Let's keep Skull Cave our lil' secret mate!

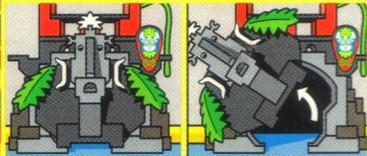

6279

SKULL ISLAND

Who says vacation is over, come on down to Skull Island and hang out with Red Beard and his buddies! Hide some loot, chill out in the secret cave or just work on your tan!

Watch out! Captain Red Beard can hoist your treasure with his handy crane!

Do you know the password which opens the door to the secret cove?

6268

RENEGADE RUNNER

Hop aboard the Renegade Runner for a tour of Skull Island. Only the four pirates aboard this fast-running ship have the map and compass to navigate the rough waters. Watch out for those pirates! They may trick you into taking the treasure from the Forbidden Cove.

6264

FORBIDDEN COVE

The secret passage to the hidden cove is hard to find. Legend says there's treasure inside. (Better watch out for the croc, he bites!)

Privyet

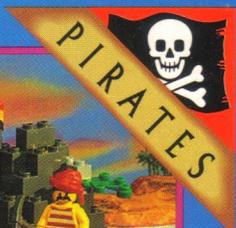

Go ahead!
Make my day.

6254

ROCKY REEF

So you think you can just row up in your lil' boat and snatch the treasures of Rocky Reef? Not if Skully has anything to say about it! This place is loaded with traps for treasure hungry pirates.

fashion update

What were the fashionable young Maniacs wearing this summer? What are they wearing in the classroom this fall? Well, just take a look at the trendsetter, Jeshua Unger. Jeshua's "Unger-Wear" was the hottest thing in Alabama this summer. His LEGO hat and shirt, featuring working lights, an airplane tower and a robot, stole the show at the second grade "Hat Day". Who knows what he'll come up with for Halloween?

COOL CREATIONS

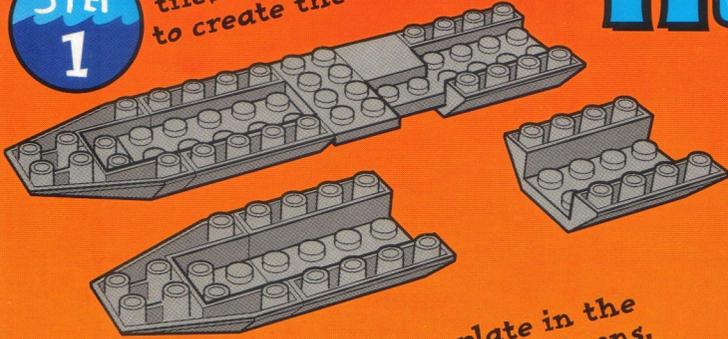

You asked for building instructions for alternate models shown on the boxes of your favorite sets. Now here's your chance to build this sleek Hovercraft using pieces from #6544 Shuttle Transcon 2 or pieces from your own collection!

HOVERCRAFT

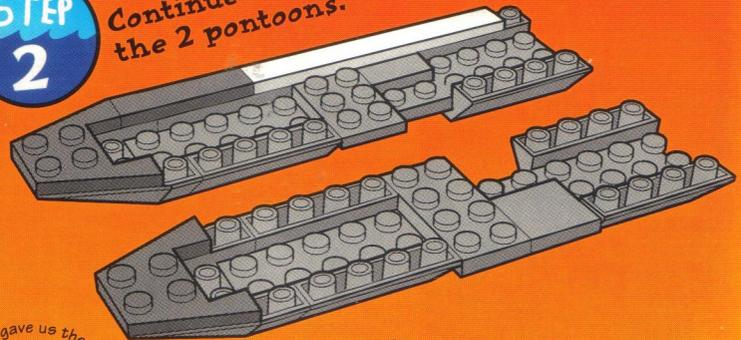

STEP 1

Connect the large gray roof tiles with 12x2 gray plates to create the 2 pontoons.

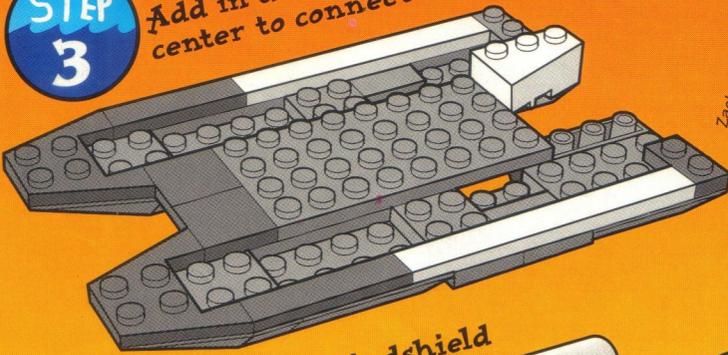

STEP 2

Continue constructing the 2 pontoons.

STEP 3

Add in a 4 x 8 gray plate in the center to connect the 2 pontoons.

Zach Johnson gave us the idea for these neat graphics!

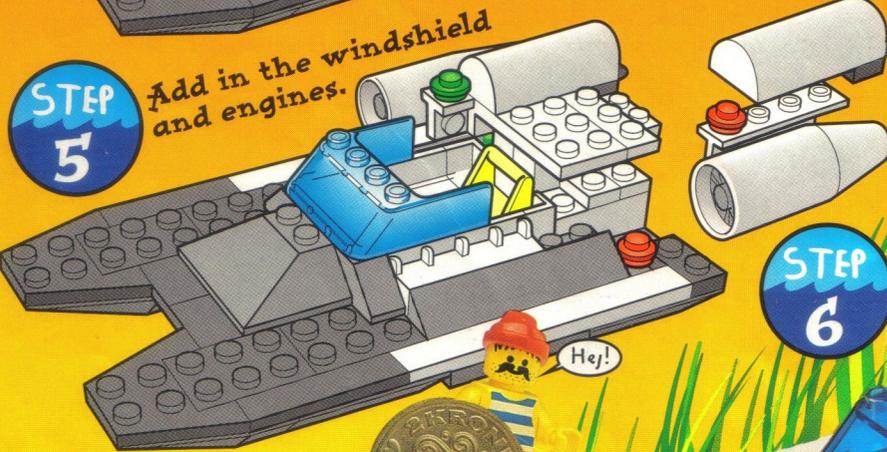

STEP 4

Build in the cockpit for the driver.

STEP 5

Add in the windshield and engines.

STEP 6

Zoom off in your new hovercraft!

Firefighter figure is included in #6614

Your design could be featured in Cool Creations. Send in your original model-making instructions to:

A KIDD'S COOL TREASURE

Your family moves into an old house near the Atlantic Ocean. Being a good kid, you start cleaning your closet. You spot an old gold coin wedged in a corner. Suddenly, a fierce pirate and his noisy parrot appear.

"Well, matey, how would ye like ta take a little sea voyage?" growls the pirate. "The Cap'n be lookin' fer a new first mate." The pirate hands you a yellowed piece of paper and pulls out his sword. "Make yer mark, and you're off on a life of adventure. Or else..."

Hola

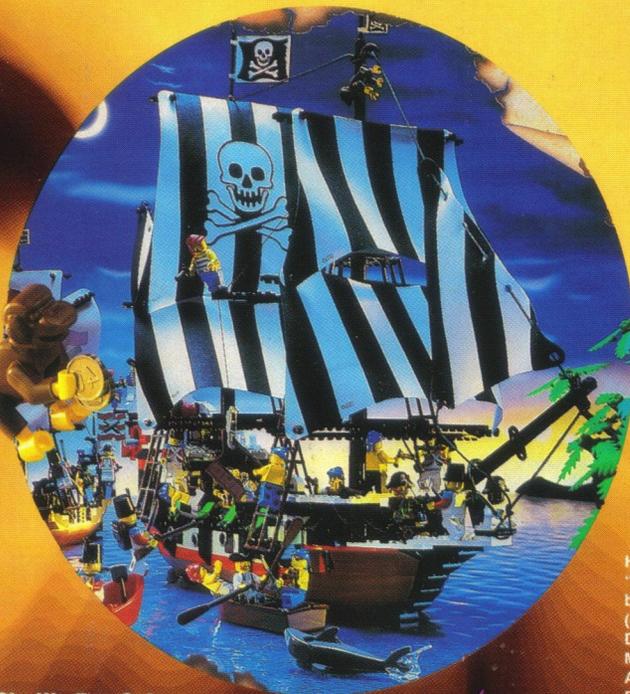

Howard Pyle, "So the Treasure was Divided," (detail) Delaware Museum of Art, Howard Pyle Collection

FIRST MATE'S LOG,
SEPT. 22, 1700

I've just become a pirate aboard the Skull's Eye Schooner! After a week of hard sailing, we made it to St. Mary's Island, off the southeast coast of Africa. The island is crawling with pirates. We traded a barrel of sugar for a fun little monkey named Coco, so now the ship has two pets: Coco and Squawks the parrot.

FIRST MATE'S LOG,
SEPT. 27, 1700

This is more like it! Our first Red Sea action. We spotted a fat merchant ship and chased it awhile. Then, we hoisted our fearsome Jolly Roger flag and made a lot of noise to scare the ship into surrendering. We captured two chests of gold coins, 900 silver bars, jewels, silk, and spices.

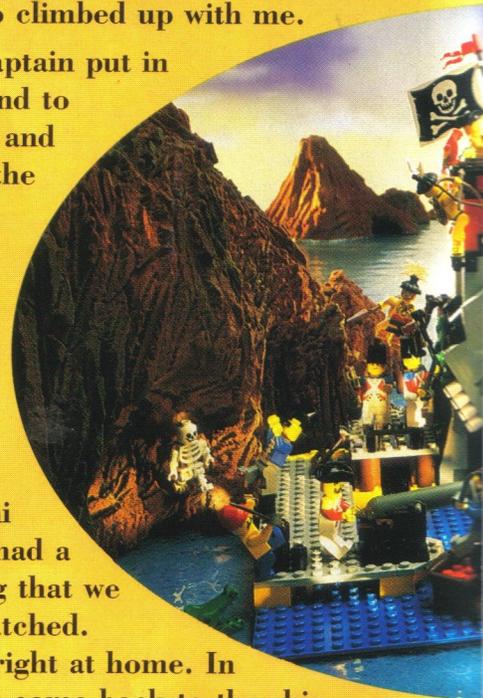

Skull's Eye Schooner

FIRST MATE'S LOG,
SEPT. 29, 1700

We started back to St. Mary's to unload the gold and silver when we were caught in a nasty storm. The Skull's Eye was blown off course, and we started to take on water. I had to climb up the main mast, which was taller than our house, and help guide the ship through the storm. It was scary hanging up there! I'm glad Coco climbed up with me.

Finally, the captain put in at a small island to bury the gold and silver before the ship sank. I went along on the treasure burying expedition as the map maker. The island was like a mini jungle, and I had a strange feeling that we were being watched. Squawks was right at home. In fact, he didn't come back to the ship. The last I saw of him, he flew into the trees screaming, "Treasure's hidden... on Skull Island!"

Howard Pyle, "Which Shall be Captain?," (detail) Delaware Museum of Art, Howard Pyle Collection

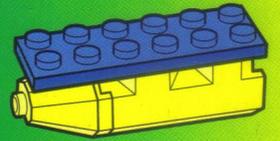

In 1982, the wreck of Samuel Bellamy's pirate ship, the Whydah, was found off the coast of Cape Cod, Massachusetts. Divers have brought up navigational instruments, pottery, gold and cannons worth millions of dollars.

Pirates used nicknames so their families wouldn't know they had become pirates.

Step 3

FIRST MATE'S LOG,
OCT. 31, 1700

We finally returned to our home base. After restocking the ship, we headed right back to the island for the treasure. We couldn't believe it when we dug up the chests. They were empty except for a parrot feather and an Islander's shield. Boy, was the captain angry. "I'll get those thieving Islanders," he vowed. Looking down, I noticed a gold coin half covered with dirt.

You pick up the LEGO coin and put it on the shelf with the rest of your LEGO pirate collection. It sure must have been cool to be a pirate.

Captain Kidd's Treasure

William Kidd is one of the most famous pirates to ever hoist a Jolly Roger flag. Treasure Island was based partially on Kidd's adventures.

William Kidd was born about 1645 in Scotland. He became a good sailor, and moved to New York City. At that time, pirates were stealing supplies headed for America. Because Kidd was such a good sailor, the governor of New York asked him to help capture the Red Sea pirates.

By the time Kidd got to the Red Sea, he decided to become a pirate. After capturing a few small ships, Kidd got lucky. He captured the Quedagh Merchant, one of the richest ships ever captured. It was loaded with gold, silver, pearls, ivory, and spices. In 1698, it was worth $2 million. Today, it would be worth more than $15 million!

On his way back to New York, Kidd heard he was wanted as a pirate. He stopped to bury part of his treasure on Gardiner's Island near Long Island, New York. Some of the treasure was discovered, but nobody knows what happened to the rest. His treasure is supposed to be buried anywhere from Nova Scotia to South Carolina.

If you live along the East Coast, maybe you've heard a legend about Captain Kidd's treasure, or maybe you'll get lucky and find it!

Howard Pyle, "Kidd on the Deck of the 'Adventure Galley,'" Delaware Museum of Art, Howard Pyle Collection

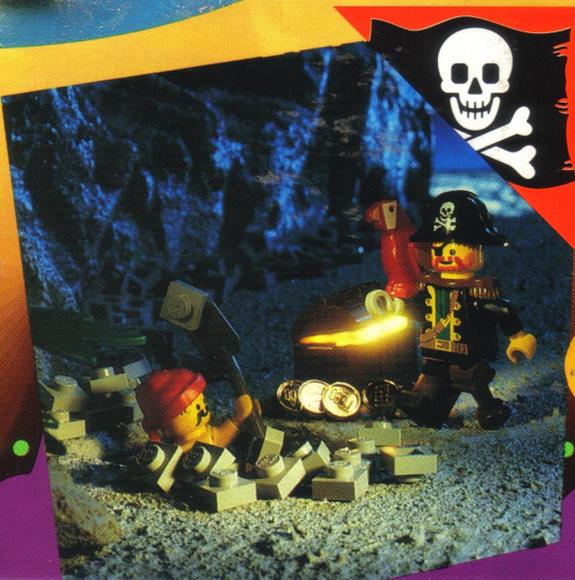

Special thanks to the Delaware Art Museum for the use of illustrations from the Howard Pyle Collection.

Howard Pyle drew more than 3,000 illustrations during his life, and many of them were about pirates. He also wrote and illustrated several books about pirates. He felt that everyone would like to become a pirate and sail off on adventures for treasure.

Pyle grew up in Wilmington, Delaware, around the time of the Civil War. He heard legends about buried pirate treasure in Rehobeth Beach, Delaware, and many of his paintings were done there.

Check your local library for his books.

A "piece of eight" was the Spanish silver dollar, or peso which could be cut into eight "bits," (tiny pie-shaped pieces).

RECYCLE TRUCK

This Cool Creation was inspired by Warren Hogge from sunny California

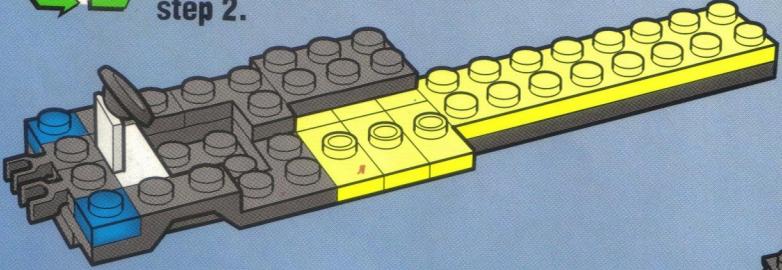

Start the chassis with some plates and axles.

Pop on some gnarly wheels.

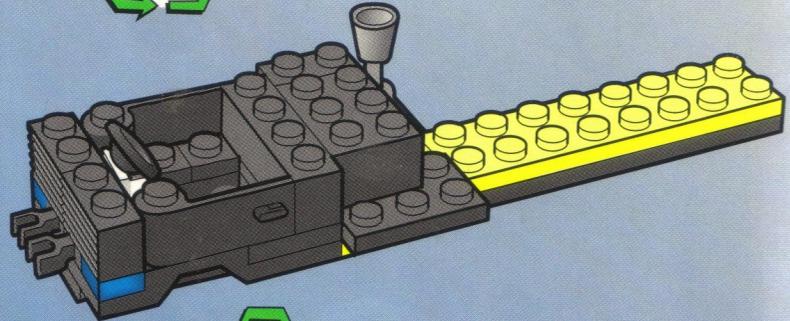

Now it's time to build the body of the Recycle Truck. This will sit on top of the chassis completed in step 2.

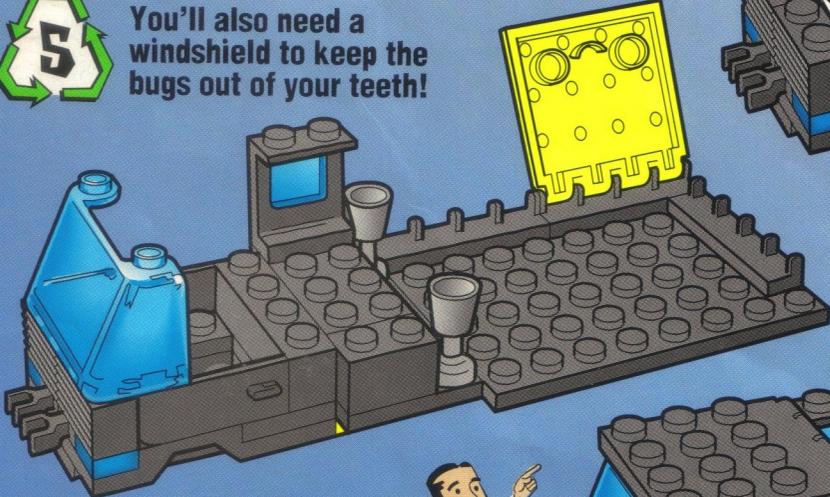

Now, put this rad chassis aside, you'll need it later in step #9

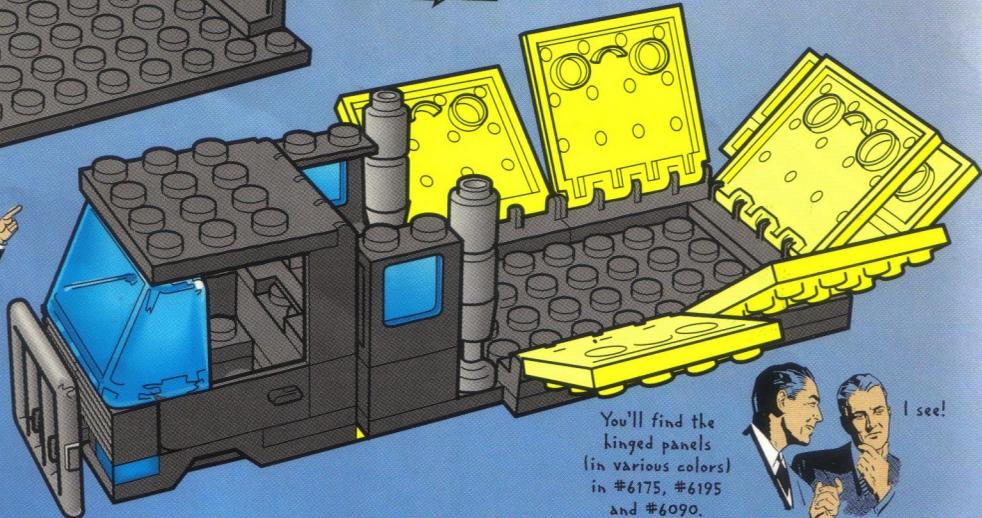

To build the cab you'll need a couple of doors.

You'll also need a windshield to keep the bugs out of your teeth!

Finish the cab and add some hinged panels to the back.

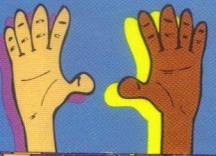

Gee, this looks dandy! Now zip up to step #7

You'll find the hinged panels (in various colors) in #6175, #6195 and #6090.

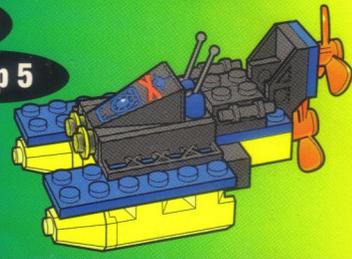

I see!

Check out Detail A to build the roof in the back of the truck. This roof does NOT open.

Detail A

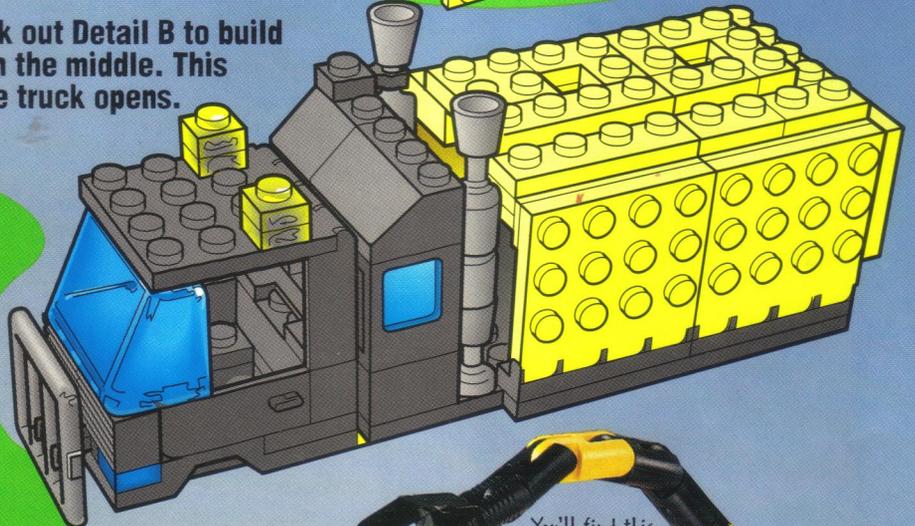

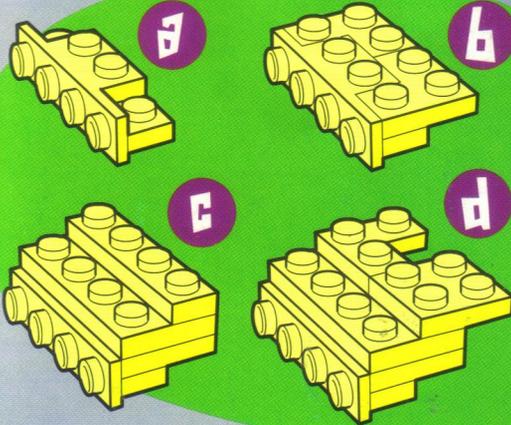

This part should open and close!

Now check out Detail B to build the roof in the middle. This part of the truck opens.

Detail B

You'll find this groovy magnetic arm in some Aquazone and Launch Command sets!

Add the claw and put the body on to the chassis (from step 2) and you're ready to recycle!

Build-Your-Own

Use the pieces in your LEGO collection to create your own Recycle Truck. The special pieces in this model can be found in #6175 Crystal Explorer Sub, #6544 Shuttle Transcon II, and many LEGO SYSTEM Town sets.

Hey! Your design could be featured in Cool Creations. Send in your original model-making instructions to: LEGO Club, "Cool Creations" P.O. Box 1308, Enfield, CT 06083. Club members featured will receive a free LEGO set of their choice!
