JUNGLE Adventures!

In the jungle another adventure waits for the Adventurers! Johnny Thunder leads the brave Adventurers in search of ancient treasures. But they are not alone. Señor Palomar and Rudo Villano, are after the magical sun disc. Both groups explore the dangerous jungle in cool cars, pontoon planes, and bustling boats. The jungle ruins are filled with awesome artifacts, but these terrific treasures are protected by the mysterious Achu. The legendary Achu commands the beasts of the jungle and sets tricky traps all through the jungle.

Adventurer

JOHNNY THUNDER

Johnny and the Adventurers race to save rare art treasures from crooked art collectors. Johnny looks forward to his jungle journey. "After battling bad, bad guys, stinging scorpions, and moldy mummies in the desert, hanging around in the jungle will be fun."

Adventurer

DR. CHARLES LIGHTNING

Dr. Lightning received a message from a friend describing a magical sun disc hidden in some jungle ruins. He was so excited, he rushed off without the letter, which Señor Palomar found.

Adventurer

HARRY CANE

NO ONE DARE SNEEZES AT THE POWER OF ACHU!

ACHU

Is the keeper of ancient treasures a man or myth? No one knows for sure. Achu doesn't let anyone—bad guys or good guys—take treasure from the jungle. He uses his amazing power over animals and tricky traps to keep outsiders out.

Adventurer

MISS GAIL STORM

THUNDER WILL BUNGLE IN THE JUNGLE, AND I WILL HAVE THE MAGIC SUN DISC!

Bad Guy

SEÑOR PALOMAR

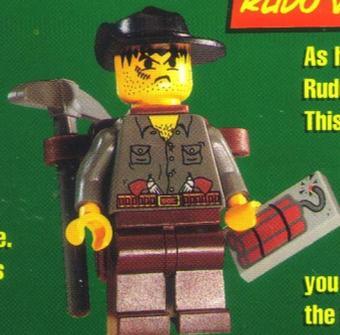

Señor Palomar is no pal o' Johnny Thunder. They have chased each other all over North, South, and Central America looking for treasure. This hotheaded villain always wears a white hat and suit. And he really gets steamed when kids confuse him with the ice cream man.

Bad Guy

RUDO VILLANO

As his name suggests, Rudo is one rude villain. This scowling man in black rarely smiles because of the nasty scar he has. "One word about my scar, Señor, and I will feed you to the crocodiles." Rudo is one of the best jungle guides around. Although Rudo is one tough hombre, he is superstitious.

#5925 Pontoon Plane

I CAN TEAR THROUGH THE AIR, PONTOON ON A LAGOON, BUT CAN'T LAND ON LAND!

This prowling pontoon plane can penetrate the deepest jungle. Not only can it fly through the skies, but it can take off and land on winding jungle rivers. This sneaky seaplane can store treasure in its secret compartment.

Detach the hatch and hide the loot.

Skeleton drops down to scare away unwanted visitors.

Treasure room's ceiling lowers spears to make its point-get out quick!

Watch out for the collapsing bridge!

Pull the pin to reveal a secret box hidden under the magic ruby.

#5986 Amazon Ancient Ruins

The Amazon Ancient Ruins even give Johnny Thunder the creeps. Achu the Keeper uses his awesome powers to keep everyone away. These spooky ruins are protected by a scary skeleton, secret trapdoor, and sneaky spider web. If you get through the traps with the treasure, you can make your getaway by boat or car.

TURN THE PAGE FOR MORE ADVENTURES!

#5936 Spider's Secret

Shh! The spider's secret is that a falling ax may ruin an Adventurer's day if he or she doesn't enter the ruins the right way. The ruins make a great place to camp if you don't mind scorpions and spiders. Use the treasure map to guide you to the secret sun disc.

HA! HA!
THE SUN DISC IS ALMOST IN MY GRASP!

Move the sun disc and an ax will drop in on you!

#5976 River Expedition

This adventurous river expedition is more exciting than a barrel of monkeys. While floating down the river on the expedition boat, keep your eyes open for the mysterious Achu. The boat is loaded with enough supplies for the long river cruise to the treasure-filled cave. There are traps all over the place, so keep a sharp lookout for sharp axes.

Raise the roof and check out the action inside.

Try to take the treasure, but watch out for falling axes!

INVENTION #684: THE ROBO-DOZER

LEGO MINDSTORMS

The Mystery of the Maya

The Mayan people have lived in Central America for more than 3,000 years. These Native Americans were excellent builders. Ruins of their cities and temples can still be found today.

Just like the 5986 Amazon Ancient Ruins, Mayan buildings started with a pyramid base built of limestone blocks. The pyramids were built as steps. Each layer of blocks was smaller than the one below it. Then on top of the flat pyramid, the Maya added a temple, palace, or even an observatory. Buildings were painted with bright colors and decorated with sculptures and wood carvings. Stairways led up the pyramid sides to the building. And the Maya did all this work without using metal tools! Some of the larger buildings took the Maya 300 years to build.

After living in their big cities for hundreds of years, around 900 AD the Maya mysteriously left their southern cities. Then, a few hundred years later, they just as mysteriously started leaving their cities.

No one knows for sure why the Maya left. The Maya returned to a simpler life in the jungles and mountains of Central America. They moved back to smaller villages and grew corn, cotton, and other crops.

Today, many Maya continue to live as their ancestors did. About six million Maya still live in the countries of Mexico, Guatemala, Belize, Honduras, and El Salvador.

Johnny Thunder's Jungle Adventure

DEEP IN A MYSTERIOUS JUNGLE, THE ADVENTURERS SEARCH FOR A MAGICAL SUN DISC BEFORE THE SINISTER SENOR PALOMAR GETS IT. JOHNNY THUNDER RUSHES TO MEET DR. LIGHTNING AND GAIL STORM.

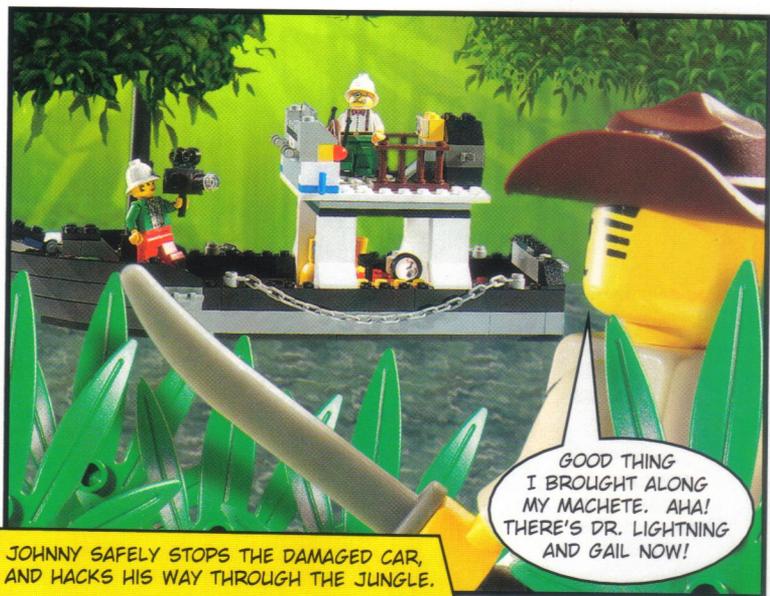

I'D BETTER HURRY. DOC'S TELEGRAM SAID SENOR PALOMAR IS IN THE JUNGLE.

Achu the Keeper protects ancient treasures from all outsiders. Legends say the fearsome figure rules the jungle animals. With his cape and birdlike mask, some people believe Achu is a spirit.

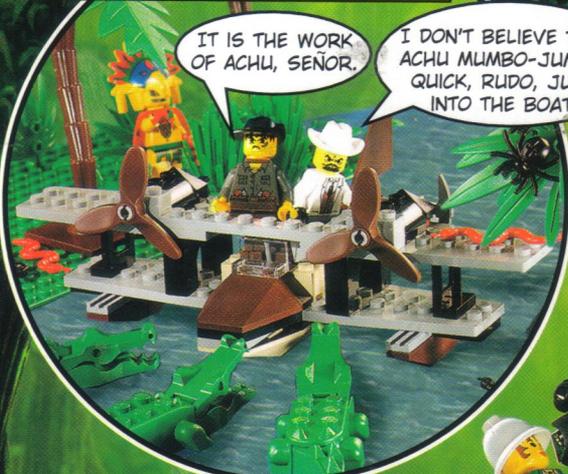

WOW, THIS JUNGLE IS STEAMY... WHY IS THE CAR SLOWING DOWN!

GOOD THING I BROUGHT ALONG MY MACHETE. AHA! THERE'S DR. LIGHTNING AND GAIL NOW!

JOHNNY SAFELY STOPS THE DAMAGED CAR, AND HACKS HIS WAY THROUGH THE JUNGLE.

SEÑOR PALOMAR AND RUDO VILLANO ARRIVE IN THE JUNGLE IN THE PONTOON PLANE... BUT THEY ARE WELCOMED BY GATORS AND SNAKES!

IT IS THE WORK OF ACHU, SEÑOR.

I DON'T BELIEVE THAT ACHU MUMBO-JUMBO. QUICK, RUDO, JUMP INTO THE BOAT!

FOLLOW THEM!

THERE'S THE CAVE FROM THE MAP!

WHERE??

LET'S GO EXPLORING!

CLUE

JOHNNY FINALLY JOINS THE OTHER ADVENTURERS AND THEY START DOWN THE DANGEROUS RIVER. BUT THEY ARE NOT ALONE!

NEAR THE WEB-COVERED CAVE, JOHNNY AND DR. LIGHTNING GET A SPOOKY SURPRISE.

AH. THE RUBY!

DON'T TOUCH THE RUBY, DOC!

RUN! THE RUBY TRIGGERS THE BOOBY TRAP.

CLIVE

THE MAP LEADS THIS WAY.

GO HOME, THUNDER. I WILL FIND THE SUN DISC FIRST!

DON'T COUNT ON IT, PALOMAR. THE RACE IS ON!

THE ADVENTURERS REACH THE AMAZON ANCIENT RUINS FIRST, WHERE THEY THINK THE SUN DISC IS HIDDEN.

I SEE THE SUN DISK AT THE TOP OF THE TOWER!

THIS IS THE TEMPLE ON THE MAP!

THIS BRIDGE LOOKS SHAKY. YOU GUYS STAY HERE.

WHILE IN THE CAVE, JOHNNY AND DR. LIGHTNING RUN INTO AN OLD PAL.

THIS IS TOO EASY!

JOHNNY CLIMBS TO THE TOP OF THE TOWER AND FINDS THE SUN DISK, BUT REMOVING THE SUN DISK COULD BE DANGEROUS!

I HAVE A BAD FEELING ABOUT THIS BRIDGE...

AND I FEEL LIKE I'M BEING WATCHED.

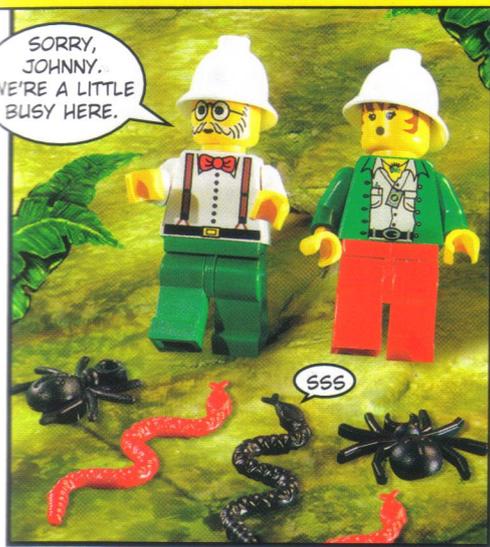

SUDDENLY, ACHU SPRING HIS TRAP. THE BRIDGE COLLAPSES AND LEAVES JOHNNY HANGING!

I KNEW THIS WAS NOT GOING TO BE EASY!

HEY DOC, I NEED SOME HELP!

AS JOHNNY HANGS ON TO THE BRIDGE, TROUBLE CREEPS UP ON DR. LIGHTNING AND GAIL!

SORRY, JOHNNY. WE'RE A LITTLE BUSY HERE.

SSS

I'LL USE THIS SUN DISC TO FLASH AN SOS. MANIAC SAVE OUR SKINS!

HANGING FROM THE BRIDGE, JOHNNY HOLDS THE DISC UP, AND SUNLIGHT REFLECTS OFF OF IT.

MEANWHILE, SEÑOR PALOMAR AND RUDO ARRIVE AT THE RUINS, BUT SEÑOR PALOMAR MAKES A BIG MISTAKE.

GET THAT BRILLIANT RUBY, RUDO.

AAAAH! IT'S A TRAP!

AY CARAMBA! ADIOS, AMIGOS!

HIGH ABOVE THE JUNGLE, JOHNNY THUNDER'S S.O.S. IS SEEN BY THE LEGO MANIAC.

HEY! SOMEONE'S TRYING TO BLIND ME. WAIT, IT'S AN S.O.S. SIGNAL!

THE MANIAC BUILDS LIKE CRAZY, ADDING THE 5986 BOAT TO THE 5925 PONTOON PLANE.

GOTTA BUILD LIKE CRAZY OR THE ADVENTURERS WILL BE STRANDED IN THE JUNGLE!

THE MANIAC SWOOPS IN AND THROWS JOHNNY A LINE. BUT JOHNNY DROPS THE DISC AS HE GRABS THE ROPE.

GRAB THE ROPE JOHNNY!

OH NO! I DROPPED THE DISC!

LET'S GET DOC AND GAIL AND GET OUT OF HERE.

LOOK, DOWN THERE. IT'S PALOMAR!

LATER DUDE!

LET'S MAKE LIKE A BOAT AND FLOAT OUT OF THIS JUNGLE!

YOU HAVEN'T SEEN THE LAST OF ME, THUNDER!

The End!

THE THROWBOTS

Build Them, Shoot Discs and Collect Them All!

In a far-off galaxy, a group of aliens built disc-flinging Throwbots to protect their planets. Through light years of self-repair, each Throwbot developed unique powers to enable them to survive.

When they combine their powers, they are unstoppable. Torch, Ski, Turbo, and Scuba combine into a super Throwbot called RoboTops.

8500 Torch

Torch lives in a world filled with active volcanoes and flowing rivers of lava. This Throwbot is a bit of a hothead. He sometimes gets out of control while using his flame-throwing power. Luckily, he can fold into a firefighter and put out his own fires.

8502 Turbo

Turbo is the only Throwbot on wheels. He lives in a world covered with hills and valleys. This four wheeling Throwbot can move, especially when he shifts to turbodrive. Turbo wants to be a intergalactic robo racer and practices robocross racing.

8503 Scuba

Scuba lives underwater. It rains nearly every day on his world. He never knows what creepy sea creatures will creep up on him, so Scuba always carries a laser blaster. His spinning propeller gives him a quick getaway.

8501 Ski

Ski can really go through ice and snow. This cool Throwbot lives in a frozen world. He can ski down a mountain with one pole while flinging a disc at the same time. When he hits the ice, he quickly switches to skates and zooms away.

An American Hero Ret

1962: A Pioneer Blasts Off!

On October 29th, 1998, John Glenn, age 77, became the oldest person to fly in space. The 9-day Discovery shuttle trip was a lot different than his first space flight.

Like the 6454 rocket, the Atlas rocket has two parts, or stages. Two minutes after liftoff, the first-stage engines use all their fuel. They fall away with the bottom half of the rocket. Then, after boosting Glenn into space, the second stage of the rocket separates from the space capsule. Friendship 7 cruises 350 miles above the Earth at 17,544 miles per hour.

Looking down, Glenn is the first American to see a sunset from above 100 miles. As he flies over Australia, it is night. But the people of Perth leave their lights on for him. And for fun, they do it again in 1998.

In 1962, Glenn orbited the Earth three times in a tiny space capsule called Friendship 7. His entire trip in space lasted 5 hours.

To get an idea of what that first space flight was like, let's check out #6454 Countdown Corner. On the launch pad, two small arms hold a massive rocket in place. This rocket is similar to the Atlas rocket that blasted Glenn into space. The launch pad arms fall away, and the Atlas rocket, 138 feet of pure power, sends Glenn into orbit.

John Glenn will have to wait 36 more years to float in space. Even if Glenn unbuckles his seatbelt, there is no place to go. The cramped capsule is only 10 feet long and 6 feet wide.

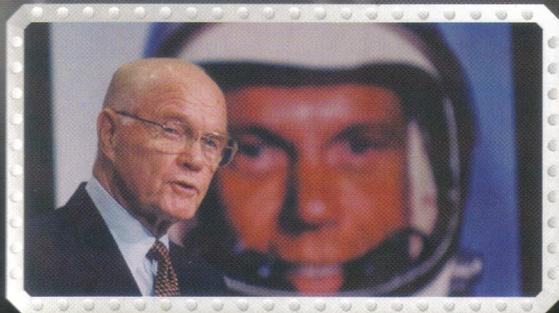

Now comes the tricky part—returning to Earth. Glenn fires the capsule's rockets, and hurtles back toward Earth. The heat shields do their job, and the glowing capsule blazes through the atmosphere like a streaking meteorite. The capsule splashes down in the Atlantic Ocean, and the USS Noa steams over to pick up the bobbing space capsule. John Glenn's first space flight is over.

1998 John Glen Flies Again!

Let's move ahead 36 years to 1998, and launch a shuttle from 6456 Mission Control.

The countdown begins. Unlike the 40-hour Discovery countdown, you can do one in 10 seconds. Ready, go! Press the shuttle's light and sound buttons and blast off.

Back in space, John Glenn enjoys weightlessness this time. He unbuckles his seat harness and floats aboard the spacious shuttle. Glenn and the other astronauts are busy with scientific experiments during their 9 days in space. They release the Spartan satellite, so it can take pictures and study the sun's atmosphere.

Photos courtesy of NASA

After two days, Dr. Stephen Robison uses the shuttle's 50-foot robot arm to retrieve the satellite. He successfully scoops up the 3,000-pound satellite and stows it back inside the shuttle.

You can do the same thing, a lot easier, with the #6456 shuttle's robot arm and satellite.

The shuttle reentry and landing are also a lot smoother for Glenn. Discovery lands like an airplane, and he simply steps out. On this historic flight, Glenn orbits the Earth 144 times and travels more than 3.6 million miles!

CONGRATULATIONS!
WE SALUTE

SCOOPY-DOO™ ZOINKS! SWEEPSTAKES

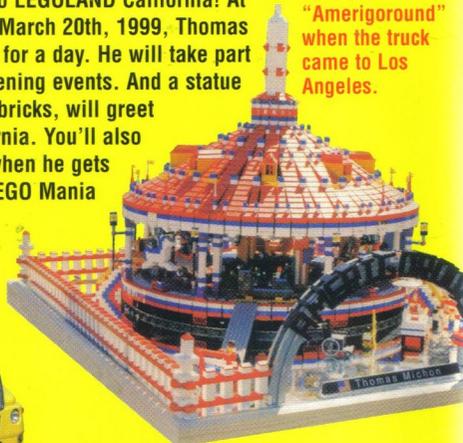

SEARCH FOR THE ULTIMATE LEGO CREATION GRAND PRIZE WINNER!

Congratulations to Thomas Michon of California, the grand prize winner of the Imagination Celebration Traveling Show "Search for the Ultimate LEGO Creation" Building Contest.

Thomas wins a trip for four to LEGOLAND California! At the park's grand opening on March 20th, 1999, Thomas will be LEGOLAND president for a day. He will take part in all kinds of cool grand-opening events. And a statue of Thomas, built from LEGO bricks, will greet visitors to LEGOLAND California. You'll also see Thomas later this year when he gets his picture on the cover of LEGO Mania Magazine!

Thomas built this "Ameriground" when the truck came to Los Angeles.

Grand Prize Winner

Fellow LEGO Club member, Scott Duzan of Illinois is the Grand Prize winner of the Scooby-Doo "Zoinks!" Sweepstakes. As grand prize winner, on December 5th, 1998, the LEGO Imagination Celebration Truck and the Scooby-Doo Mystery Machine delivered every LEGO Building set sold in the 1998 U.S. LEGO retail assortment to Scott's door! Plus, the event was broadcast on Cartoon Network! Scott plans to give many LEGO sets to needy children.

Congratulations to Scott and his family and friends throughout his hometown, who shared in the event!
