Low Temperature, HIGH FASHION!

"The big day is finally HEEEERE!" Emma squealed as she hopped
into Stephanie's convertible.

"Do you think you're ready?" Stephanie asked as she pulled out of the driveway.

"Definitely!" Grinning, Emma checked things off on her fingers, "The Jungle Fundraiser Fashion Show is gonna be totes amazing. The dresses I've designed are already at the mall, we have a DJ, and since school is out for winter break, everyone from school will be there to see the show!"

"I hope the fashion show raises a lot of money for the animals...but are you sure you have everything planned out?" Stephanie asked.

Emma tapped her head, "Well I don't write lists like you do, Steph, but I've got everything memorized!"

"Ha-ha, okay!"

Once they got to the mall, Emma and Stephanie parked and walked inside. The courtyard where the fashion show was being held was empty except for a catwalk. Emma ran up to one of the mall security officers.

"Excuse me, uh, my name is Emma and I'm running the Heartlake City Mall Fashion Show! There were supposed to be chairs set up here...do you know where they are?"

The security officer looked surprised, "Oh, there wasn't an order put in for chairs to be set up. We would also need a guest list for reserved seats."

"Oh gosh!" Emma turned to Stephanie in shock, "I completely forgot! What do I do?"

Stephanie whipped out a clipboard from her purse and started writing with a bright green pen, "Leave it to me, I'm a pretty good planner. You just worry about getting all the beautiful decorations you designed up on the catwalk and in the courtyard. Let me worry about the seats and guest list!"

"Oh thanks Stephanie!!" Emma gave her a quick hug, "I'll go get the decorations!"

As Stephanie figured out the guest list and chairs, Emma got to work on the decorations. She hung up string lights and garland, and was almost finished putting the finishing touches on the catwalk when Stephanie walked over with her clipboard.

"Alright," As Stephanie spoke she checked off things on her checklist, "We've got the chairs set up and a guest list for when people start getting here. The decorations are finished, and the models will be getting here in an hour. Where are they changing?"

"Oh...I forgot about that too!" Emma frowned, "I'm sorry Stephanie, I guess I really didn't have it all planned out!"

Stephanie winked, "That's okay, Emma! You have an eye for design and a killer fashion sense, and I like making lists, we're just different! But we do have to figure out how these models are going to change."

"What if we call up our engineering genius Olivia and ask her if she can build a portable dressing room?"

"That sounds perfect!" Stephanie took out her cell and smiled, "While I call Olivia, can you make sure the DJ has everything he needs?"

"I can definitely do that!" Emma walked over to the DJ booth to make sure the speakers were set up, when she felt her phone buzz. She opened her phone and sighed as she saw the number, "Oh no..."

Stephanie ran over with a big grin. "Olivia and Mia were hanging out so they're going to walk over together and build the portable dressing rooms."

"That's great! ...but I have some bad news."

"Oh no, what happened?"

"The DJ just called and cancelled on me! But luckily," Emma started dialling another number "I did plan for this...Hello, Andrea? Can you come to the mall? It's time for Plan B!"

In less than an hour, Olivia and Mia were in the courtyard building

Stephanie grinned, "Absolutely!"

Before the fashion show, Emma made some last-minute changes to the clothes, and Stephanie tried them on... it was a perfect fit! As it started to get dark outside, everyone got into place. Julian and Andrea started playing a cool, upbeat song as the guests arrived. The models got dressed in the portable dressing rooms behind the catwalk, the lights dimmed, and the Heartlake City Mall fashion show went perfectly! Emma even designed some quick and cute outfits so the rest of the girls could walk in the fashion show too!

As Stephanie walked off stage after the show, Emma hugged her again, "Thanks so much Stephanie, I wouldn't have been able to pull this off without you!"

"And I wouldn't look this amazing without you! Seriously...can I take this dress home?"

"Of course! I think that this should be an annual show! That is...if you and all our friends help me out again!"

Stephanie winked, "You can count on us!"

The End

portable dressing rooms, and Andrea and their friend Julian from school were filling in at the DJ booth, selecting songs and making playlists for the fashion show. Stephanie smiled over at Emma who was still busy working, "C'mon Em, let's go get some pizza for lunch, you've been super busy all day, we can take a little break!"

"Mmm, pizza sounds perfect!"

While they were eating lunch, there was one more problem they had to fix.

"I'm sorry to tell you this Emma, but one of the models told me that Lila, the main model had to cancel coming today because she's feeling sick."

"Oh no!" Emma threw up her hands in frustration, "Nothing is going right today!"

"Em, don't worry! One thing I learned about party planning is that you always have to remain calm."

"I know, but Lila was going to wear one of the best dresses in the show!"

"Hey...I have a crazy idea...What if I filled in for Lila? I know you're amazing with a needle and thread, just make some adjustments to the clothes and I'll step in!"

Emma grabbed Stephanie for a tight hug, "No way, are you serious? Are you sure!?"

Make Your Own PAPER BEADS!

Create these cool jungle-themed paper beads to string into do-it-yourself jewelry. It's easy and fun!

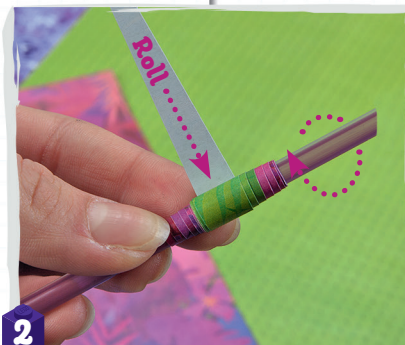

ALL YOU NEED IS...

- SCISSORS
- JUNK MAIL, MAGAZINES, ETC.
- DRINKING STRAW OR TOOTHPICK
- GLUE
- STRING
- LEGO ELEMENTS

Carefully cut the paper triangles you would like to use for your paper beads. You can make yours whatever size you like. It's fun to experiment with different sized triangles.

Starting at the wide end, roll the triangle onto the drinking straw or toothpick tightly. You can roll two or three at a time. You may need to add glue to the tip of the triangle.

When you get near the end of rolling your bead, add glue to the tip of the triangle.

TIP:

If it starts to unravel, place it back on the straw or toothpick and add more glue to the end.

TIP:

Adding LEGO® elements to any necklace are a fun addition!

Friends of the Jungle!

Don't miss the new LEGO® Friends Special "Friends of the Jungle" premiering November 2 at 9am/8c with an encore November 5 at 4pm/3c on Disney Channel!

TIP:
Ask an adult to help and remember... paper beads make great gifts!

Wait for your beads to dry completely. It will take a few hours. Remove your beads by carefully sliding it off the drinking straw or toothpick. Now, you can start to add them onto the string.

Once the beads are strung, tie the two ends together. Enjoy creating all sorts of beads and add LEGO elements from your existing sets!

Rapunzel's A-MAZE-ing HAIR!

Help Rapunzel reach Flynn!

Rapunzel needs your help to find a path from the top of her Creativity Tower to Flynn down below! Work your way through the maze and help her get to Flynn!

Bonus:

How many cookies and hair bows are tangled in Rapunzel's hair?

Need help? Find the answers at the bottom of the page.

Would you like a hair braid like Rapunzel? Here are the steps for a Fishtail braid!

Rapunzel loves to braid her long hair. This Fishtail braid is one that you can do at home with your friends.

Follow the instructions below, or have a friend help you!

Gather all your hair and separate into two sections and roll hair sections inward.

Take a small side piece from the left section and cross over the whole section bringing the piece to the center.

Repeat Step 2 for the right section.

Take a small side piece from the left section and cross over the whole section bringing the piece to the center.
